WHO WE ARE

Cloud Cuckoo Land Theatre is a neurodivergent-led music theatre company with its head in the clouds and its feet firmly planted in Brummie soil. We collaborate with, train and mentor lots of neurodivergent artists across varied profiles, and create ND-inclusive theatre, music and sensory experiences.

Our plays Ding Dong, Ariel On The Cliff and FLEX have toured to community, healthcare and education settings across Birmingham, and theatres nationally including ArtsDepot, Farnham Maltings, mac Birmingham and The RSC.

Our Artistic Director, Katerina, has taught music theatre performance for students at Rose Bruford College + Royal Birmingham Conservatoire, and trained as a theatre director with Lev Dodin, Justin Audibert and Paul Hunter. She's also a qualified Associate Clinical Educator with over a decade's cross-sector experience as a facilitator, devising and delivering collective training, + teaching interpersonal communication skills to healthcare / other professionals.

NEURODIVERGENT-LED TRAINING WORKSHOPS

Our neurodivergent-led creative and sector development training programmes benefit from a 100% neurodivergent facilitation team with varied arts and cross-sector expertise and experience.

We can provide specialist arts trainers with lived experience of Tourette's, Autism, ADHD, Dyslexia and Dyspraxia. Our trainers are drawn from our team of producers, directors and artists.

- Online training sessions for groups of up to 16 adults
- In-person training also available (accessible space required)
- Welcoming, inclusive sessions with ND-friendly teaching
- 3.5 hours inc. 60 mins flexible breaks (more if required by you)
- Facilitated by our neurodiverse team of specialist arts leaders

Find working patterns that are healthy for you

Find new ways to fund your work

Advocate for your needs to be met

Look after your wellbeing

Identify opportunities for growth

Create a plan to keep working in the arts on your terms: how to stay safe and happy within a fulfilling creative career that celebrates your unique talents

IMPORTANT WORDS

- ★ Neurodivergent / “ND” = Someone whose brain develops, works, behaves, learns or processes information differently from the majority of people’s brains. This non-medical word covers a very wide range experiences and perspectives including Autism, sensory processing disorders, Tourettes, Down’s Syndrome, ADHD, AuDHD, dyslexia, dysgraphia, dyspraxia, dyscalculia, and learning disabilities. Many people also include personality disorders and mental health conditions under the ND umbrella. Lots of neurodivergent folk are disabled, but others are not — the relationship between neurodivergence and disability is really complex.
- ★ Neurotypical / “NT” = Someone whose brain develops, works, behaves, learns or processes information in a similar way to the majority of people’s brains: this can mean NT people fit more easily into the systems society sets up for us to live and work in (although they may face other barriers, such as disability or racism)
- ★ Neurodiverse = When a group of people’s brains work in varied ways – this may or may not include NT people
- ★ Neurodiversity = Often describes a movement of ND folk advocating for their rights, for respect and for their voices to be heard on ND issues (for example, autistic people campaigning for identity-first language)
